First aid is critical in emergency situations, like injury, illness, or a sudden health emergency. Any of these can occur in the places where we live, work, learn, and play. Here's the first aid basics to know so you stay safe and prepared. You never know when you might need to provide basic first aid. To prepare for the unpredictable, considering storing a well-stocked first aid kit in your home and car. It's also a good idea to have a first aid kit available at work. You can buy preassembled first aid kits from many first aid organizations, pharmacies, or outdoor recreation stores. Some simple first aid steps, such as checking their vitals, can inform what to do next and help emergency services when they arrive. For example, CPR may be necessary if the person is not breathing. Learn more here. When someone becomes unconscious, it is essential to know what to do. Some simple first aid steps, such as checking their vitals and for signs of serious injury, can help a person until the emergency services arrive. If a person is not breathing, it may be necessary to perform CPR. Unconsciousness is an unresponsive state. A person who is unconscious may seem like they are sleeping, but may not respond to outside events, such as loud noises or being touched or shaken. Fainting is a type of unconsciousness that comes on suddenly and may only last a few seconds. Data analysis finds 221,000 pennsylvania votes switched from president trump to biden. Here is a video of President Trump's comments: TRUMP: "So, I have a lot of enemies out there right now." This was when they sold American uranium to Russia. The billions in aid gifted to other countries is also a major scandal from the Obama years. Not much has been shared about this to date but the Ukraine was involved. Is this why the Ukraine related impeachment was created? Join The Gateway Pundit Newsletter. Sign up for our free email newsletter, and we'll make sure to keep you in the loop. Success! Advertisement.
