

Reference : The American Prose Poem

Document type : Books : Book published as author, translator, etc.

Discipline(s) : Arts & humanities : Literature

To cite this reference: <http://hdl.handle.net/2268/13178>

Title : The American Prose Poem

Language : English

Alternative title : [fr] Le poème en prose américain

Author, co-author : Delville, Michel  [Université de Liège - ULiège > Département des langues et littératures modernes > Littérature anglaise moderne et littérature américaine >]

Publication date : 1998

Publisher : University Press of Florida

Page number : 308

ISBN : 0-8130-1859-5

City : Gainesville

Country : Etats-Unis

Keywords : [en] littérature américaine ; genres littéraires ; poétique

Abstract : [en] The American prose poem has a rich history marked by important contributions from major writers. Michel Delville's book is the first full-length work to provide a critical and historical survey of the American prose poem from the early years of the 20th century to the 1990s. Delville reassesses the work of established prose poets in relation to the history of modern poetry and introduces writings by some whose work in the form has so far escaped mainstream critical attention (Sherwood Anderson, Kenneth Patchen, Russell Edson). He describes the genre's European origins and the work of several early representatives of a modern tradition of the prose lyric (Charles Baudelaire, Max Jacob, Franz Kafka, and James Joyce). By applying a broad range of theory to the history of the prose poem, Delville adds evidence to its reputation as a norm-breaking form by writing within, against, and across existing genres and traditions. He shows that the history of the contemporary prose poem is, in many respects, the record of its efforts to question both the nature of the "poetic" or "lyric" mode and the aesthetic and ideological foundations of a variety of other genres and subgenres.

Target : Researchers ; Professionals ; Students ; General public

Permalink : <http://hdl.handle.net/2268/13178>

File(s) associated to this reference

Fulltext file(s):

	File	Commentary	Version	Size	Access
 Open access	INTRODUCTION.doc		Author preprint	74 kB	View/Open
 Open access	CHAP1STEIN.doc		Publisher postprint	130 kB	View/Open
 Open access	CHAP2.DOC		Author preprint	51 kB	View/Open
 Open access	CHAP3.DOC		Author preprint	149.5 kB	View/Open
 Open access	CHAP4.DOC		Author preprint	82.5 kB	View/Open
 Open access	CHAP5.DOC		Author preprint	62 kB	View/Open
 Open access	CHAP6.DOC		Author preprint	166.5 kB	View/Open
 Open access	EPILOG.DOC		Author preprint	29.5 kB	View/Open

 SHARE

Get it@ULiège

All documents in ORBi are protected by auser license.

international poets. SheWolf Smacked Down by WindMale. SheWolf scampered into the cave and smacked into WindMale. He held her by the scruff of her neck, snarling his usual meanness. Her heart beat triple time, Read More. © Caren Krutsinger. Categories: prose, animal, native american, wind, chasing the sun. I want to tell you something that began like this: {hello, the other day I heard a spirit- tell them he said FOLLOW ME. Many Read