

The Prospects for Acceptance of Animal Cloning in the European Food Chain: Early Insights from an Irish Sentinel Group

Murphy, Cathal
Henchion, Maeve
McCarthy, Mary
Williams, Gwilym A.

View/Open

 ProspectsAcceptanceAnimal.pdf \(118.7Kb\)

Date

2011

Format

Article

Metadata

[\[+\] Show full item record](#)

Abstract

European stakeholders will soon face a decision regarding the acceptability of livestock cloning. Commercial exploitation of cloning for food purposes within the European Union will require an insight into public sentiment, and a communication strategy that addresses risk perception. The present study canvassed the opinions of expert stakeholders within the Irish arena.

URI

<http://hdl.handle.net/10355/11701>

Collections

AgBioForum, vol. 14, no.2 \(2011\)

Send Feedback

hosted by University of Missouri Library Systems